The question of arbitrating the issue which has been raised by the Japanese over the California anti-alien land law also has been a subject of serious discussion among senators opposed to renewing the arbitration treaties. As it is only one of the treaties has been renewed, that with France. When opposition to the renewal of the convention with Great Britain arose, the Senate failed also to renew similar compacts with Italy and Spain, although there is not at the present time pending any international dispute of moment between this country and either of the other two. President Wilson has had frequent conferences over the arbitration treaties with senators who have seen him at the White House and at Capitol conferences.
